

PARALLEL VISION

By: Teneisha Johnson

Through the storms, through the rain

Through the hurt, through the pain

I've learnt to trust in Jesus

I've learnt to trust in God

Through the day, through the night

When I'm wrong, when I'm right

I've learnt to seek his face

And not always to seek his hand

In a corner, in the middle

Playing trumpets or a fiddle

We must learn to stand firm

We must practice trusting God

In the heavens, on the earth

Whether low or full of worth

As people, we must press forward

Persevering in our stand

Parallel vision and unity

In God we trust, the Holy Trinity

Rest and abide with us forever

Your blessed people, we stand firm together, Amen
